

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Preface

When college opened in the fall, it appeared very much as if it would be impossible to issue the Register this year. Nevertheless the editors who returned deemed it advisable to continue the publication without a break in the sequence of years, so that it was finally decided to go ahead with the work as usual. Owing to this somewhat late decision however, the date of issue was unfortunately, though necessarily, delayed.

The aim of the editors this year has been to follow the policy of the 1916-17 Board which published the most complete and accurate volume of the Register that has yet been issued. In certain respects, such as the smaller number of cuts, wartime economy has compelled the present Board to curtail some of the more attractive features.

The one innovation in this year's volume is the inclusion of a list of the members of the classes of 1918, 1919, and 1920 in service, with their rank and addresses wherever possible. As all lists are somewhat incomplete, this one undoubtedly contains omissions and errors, but the endeavor of the Board has been to bring such errors down to a minimum. The difficulty of compiling these names was much greater than was at first anticipated, but every man in regard to whom information, however slight, was obtainable has, we hope, been placed on the records.

The Board wishes to thank the officers of the University, the Athletic Association, and Phillips Brooks House for the valuable assistance they have given in the collection of statistics. All information is correct to November 1, 1917.

Fair Harvard

*Fair Harvard! thy sons to thy jubilee throng,
And with blessings surrender thee o'er,
By these festival rites, from the age that is past
To the age that is waiting before.
O, relic and type of our ancestors' worth,
That has long kept their memory warm,
First flower of their wilderness! star of their night!
Calm rising thro' change and thro' storm.*

*Farewell! be thy destinies onward and bright!
To thy children the lesson still give,
With freedom to think, and with patience to bear,
And for right ever bravely to live.
Let not moss-covered error moor thee at its side,
As the world on truth's current glides by;
Be the herald of light, and the bearer of love,
Till the stock of the Puritans die.*

The Graduate Schools

Much of the material in this part is published by the courtesy of the Harvard Federation of Territorial Clubs, being taken from their book entitled "Harvard of To Day."

Excellent opportunities for advanced study at Harvard are afforded by the various graduate schools. Generally speaking, an A.B. or S.B. degree or sufficient specialized preparation is requisite for entrance, and the regular term of study varies with the different schools from one to four years. In planning a college course it is well to look ahead, and it may be that the following information from representatives of the several schools will be helpful. The University publishes separate pamphlets describing the schools, which may be obtained on application.

Graduate School of Arts and Sciences

The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences includes those men working for the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. The total membership in 1917-18 is 291, distributed principally among the departments of Ancient Languages, Modern Languages, Philosophy, Mathematics, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Education. These men come from all parts of this country, and to some extent from foreign countries; indeed, the newcomer at the school is usually struck by the heterogeneity of the men in their studies and in their origins. It is easy to see what chances for exchange of ideas lie in the bringing together of so many kinds of talents, opinions, prejudices, and temperaments.

The great advantage the School offers—and one which can hardly be matched in this country—is the close relationship between student and professor. At Harvard the advanced student in almost any department has the personal supervision, even companionship, of men of the first rank in their subjects. Less important, but hardly less, are the library facilities. I refer not only to the great extent and value of the collections in Harvard and Boston libraries, but to the readiness of access allowed the advanced student. At Harvard the stacks are thrown open to him; in Boston the courtesies are hardly less extensive; and there are several special libraries, devoted to books on many single or related subjects, where he is always welcomed.

The University is drawing together the social life of the graduate student by devoting Conant Hall, on Oxford Street, to men in the graduate schools. The plan has been highly successful, for Conant, which accommodates about one hundred men, is in great demand. It has a splendid, large common room, used by the Hall as a lounge and reading room, and by various scholastic clubs as a meeting place. This common room, and indeed Conant Hall itself, constitutes the center of the social life of the School.

A word about the relation of the Graduate School to the College and its activities. The School, to be sure, is a separate entity. At the same time, the members of the College and School attend the same lecture halls, dine at the same dining halls, and thus come in contact constantly. The graduate student, as well as the undergraduate, is entitled to all the social and athletic privileges afforded by the University.

The Law School

The Harvard Law School is the oldest of the existing law schools in the country. It has attained its present position among law schools by the high professional standing of its graduates and by the invention of a method of legal instruction called the "case system". Before the administration of Dean Langdell, eminent jurists had taught the students by lectures supplemented by the study of legal treatises. This system did not give the training and facility in the actual methods of the best legal practice. A practising lawyer presents his case with citation of other cases, and his final authority and test of law lie largely in court decisions. Dean Langdell therefore introduced a system of instruction whereby the student was trained to use as original authorities the published decisions of courts. The success of the "case system" has caused it to spread through the law schools of the country.

This method of teaching law requires a large and fully equipped library. The Harvard Law School has such a library. Indeed, Professor Dicey of Oxford has pronounced it "the most perfect collection of legal records in the English speaking world."

Lawyers bred at Harvard have proved to be so sound and successful in practice that the School has increased rapidly in size. During 1916-17 there were enrolled in the school eight hundred and fifty-six men including representatives from forty-four states of the Union and seven foreign countries and coming from one hundred and fifty-three different colleges. These men represent the best types of college graduate, and the average ability is extraordinarily high. Such a student body is splendidly equipped to make the most of the study of the law by means of the case system.

The fact that a man who has made a good record at the Harvard Law School has a certain prestige when he seeks a position after graduation, may partly account for the keen competition for the leading places in the class. Unlike most undergraduate scholastic competitions, the struggle is not confined to a few of the more studiously inclined.

Every man is given an opportunity to join a law club and almost all avail themselves of the chance. A club is composed of eight men from each class. The members of the first year class argue cases before an upper classman who presides as chief justice. Later in the course a competition is held between the clubs, known as the Ames Competition, for which prizes are given. The law clubs have proved valuable in teaching men how to search the authorities, and present an argument effectively.

The Harvard Law Review, which has gained an enviable reputation as a sound legal journal, elects to its editorial board twelve or more men from each class at the beginning of the second year, on the basis of ability shown in the first year's work. Only legal ability and character gain a man standing among his fellows, and where men of every type and from nearly every state are working together with a common serious purpose, it is easy to make acquaintances and to form lasting friendships. Amid such surroundings the life of the school could not be other than attractive for the man who enjoys legal work.

The Divinity School

The preparation of men for the Christian ministry has been one of the functions of Harvard since the foundation of the College in 1636 by the colonists who "dreaded to leave an illiterate ministry to our churches when our present ministers shall lie in the dust." Harvard College provided a large number of ministers for the New England churches during the 17th and 18th centuries, and the oldest professorship in the University is the Hollis Professorship of Divinity (1721). In 1816 the Divinity School was definitely differentiated from the college as a distinctly professional school. It now offers a three years' course in preparation for the degree of Bachelor of Theology, for men, already Bachelors of Arts, going into the active ministry, and opportunities for advanced study leading to the degrees of Master of Theology and Doctor of Theology, intended especially for men who expect to teach theology.

The School has never required any denominational test, its constitution, which dates from 1816, prescribing that "every encouragement shall be given to the serious, impartial and unbiassed investigation of Christian truth, and no assent to the peculiarities of any denomination of Christians shall be required of either instructors or students." The administration of the School is carefully conformed to this principle. Various denominations are represented in its Faculty and among its students.

Divinity Hall, a charming old ivy-covered brick building on Divinity Avenue opposite the eastern front of the University Museum, is the dormitory for the School. It dates from 1826 and contains the Common Room, and the Chapel, which is one of the most interesting historical rooms in the University. Most of the lectures in the School are given in the Divinity Library, adjoining Divinity Hall.

The handsome stone buildings of Andover Theological Seminary lie a little to the east of the Divinity School, facing on Francis Avenue. The two schools hold joint services of worship, and arrange their courses on a basis of co-operation rather than of competition. Andover Seminary has been, since 1908, closely affiliated with the Divinity School. More recent and looser affiliations have also been made with the Episcopal Theological School, Boston University School of Theology, and the Newton Theological Institution. The Andover-Harvard Theological Library is a very rich collection, and the combined resources of the Divinity School and the affiliated institutions offer opportunities for theological education equalled in but few other places.

The Medical School

The Harvard Medical School has had a long and honorable history. Beginning in a little building about the size of a small country school-house, it has several times outgrown its quarters till in 1906 it was moved to its present magnificent situation. The school now has an equipment that is not equalled by any medical school in this country. The five gray marble structures connected by hallways and porches make a group which every passerby admires, and which fills with pride the hearts of those who work within them.

The admission requirements are, generally speaking, a degree in Arts or Science from an approved college or scientific school, or two years of undergraduate work with a reading knowledge of French or German and certain work in scientific subjects. Under special conditions others may obtain admission by receiving the consent of the Faculty.

It is, however, the men who direct the work, rather than the magnificence of the equipment, that makes a school great. A glance at the list of the Faculty of Medicine will show the names of men of national and international reputation who are working in these laboratories and directing the students who are under them. They are men of inspiring character, and are always ready to help their students. We are proud of our equipment, but we are prouder still of the staff of men who direct the School's work and who have made notable contributions to the advancement of Medical Science.

The hospitals and institutions which are grouped about the Harvard Medical School or are near at hand in Boston afford unsurpassed facilities for clinical instruction. These institutions contain over two thousand patients whose cases are available for teaching purposes.

Aside from the regular assigned work, there are many opportunities in spare hours for the student who is ambitious to do special research under the immediate personal direction and supervision of the Professors of the various departments. This kind of work is intensely interesting, and its value to the student cannot be overestimated.

The Medical School is not lacking in social life. The Student's Association, to which every student of the School belongs, holds two meetings a year at which some distinguished person speaks. The meeting at the beginning of the academic year is a reception to the new men. Each class has an occasional smoker and an annual banquet, which are always enjoyed. Late in the spring the School grants a holiday, and all the classes join in a picnic down Boston harbor.

The Dental School

The Harvard Dental School is established in Boston and was instituted by vote of the President and Fellows of Harvard College, July 17, 1867. The first session of the School opened on the first Wednesday in November, 1867, and continued until the following March. The first examination of candidates for the degree of the School was held March 6, 1869.

Instruction in this School is given throughout the academic year, by lectures, recitations, clinical teaching, and practical exercises, uniformly distributed. The programme of instruction is progressive, and occupies four years, its extension to four years having taken place last year.

Biology, anatomy, histology, physiology, physiological and dental chemistry, general pathology, oral anatomy, histology (normal and pathological), and bacteriology are pursued in the Harvard Medical School.

The degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine is given, on recommendation by the Faculty of Medicine, on the completion of the four years' course. The degree is given in two grades.

It is the object of the Faculty to present a complete course of instruction in the theory and practice of Dentistry; and for this purpose a well-appointed laboratory and infirmary are provided. Clinical instruction is given by the professors and other instructors; and each day patients are assigned to the students, ensuring to all the opportunity of operating at the chair, and becoming trained by actual practice in all the operations demanded of the dentist.

Students have access to the hospitals of the city, and are assigned to service in the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Graduate School of Business Administration

The Business School strictly enforces its requirements that all candidates for its degree shall be college graduates, and, except in special cases, allows only holders of college degrees to register for full work. Such requirements make the School unique among similar institutions of this country, most of which seek to combine collegiate and professional training. The student body is, therefore, composed of college men from all parts of the country—indeed, from many parts of the world—who have completed their undergraduate work and are engaging in a serious study of business as a profession.

The School of Business Administration is primarily designed for those aiming to fit themselves for the ultimate attainment of posts of responsibility and leadership in the business world. It is a school of extraordinarily high standards, which seeks to train liberally educated men in the broader principles of modern business, and above all to lead them to think rightly and accurately upon business subjects.

The courses of instruction are grouped under twelve heads: Accounting, Commercial Law, Marketing, Industrial Management, General Business Problems and Foreign Trade, Banking and Finance, Transportation, Insurance, Printing and Publishing, Chamber of Commerce Secretarial Training, Local Utilities, Lumbering. Each student is given ample opportunity to elect such work as will particularly fit him for the field he plans to enter. Two years' study is necessary to obtain the degree of Master in Business Administration.

The School is happily rich in friends and supporters. Business men from every line of industry take an active part in its affairs. The system of instruction includes lectures and talks by such men. Numerous business houses, factories, and shops are open to the students for class and individual investigations. In one course each student has an "advisor" who is an active business man and who directs the student's work in some phase of the business. The opportunity the School affords for interesting study is unlimited.

The Bussey Institution

The Bussey Institution, grown up since its founding in 1871 from a mere undergraduate school of agriculture to a position of importance in the world of science, provides a chance for investigation into all the practical problems of Botany and Zoology. Its buildings and grounds are located at Forest Hills, within the city limits of Boston. Next to it, on a great tract of 804 acres, is the Arnold Arboretum, a splendid museum of trees and shrubs, devoted to experiments in arboriculture and forestry.

The Institution offers a course of study of two years, leading to the degree of Master of Science or Master of Forestry. As at present worked out, emphasis is being laid in the course upon the experimental study of insects, the laws of heredity in animals and plants, a study of the effect of environment on plants, and the science of forest management. The facilities for the purpose are unusual, due both to its constant co-operation with the other University departments, and the easy access to the Arboretum, the Gray Herbarium, and, though at a greater distance, the Museum of Comparative Zoology in Cambridge. The exceptionally fine Harvard Forest at Petersham is an especially important source of material.

Instruction in Engineering and Mining

In January, 1914, the University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology entered into an agreement to co-operate in the conduct of courses leading to degrees in Engineering and Mining, and in the promotion of research in those subjects, the end in view being to avoid duplication by bringing together the resources of both institutions available for these purposes. The operation of the agreement, so far as the use of income of the McKay endowment is concerned, is subject to the approval of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts in proceedings now pending in that Court. For this reason chiefly the organization of the co-operation is not yet settled in all its details.

However, the general plan is that instruction and research in Engineering and Mining shall be organized in co-operation with the Institute in the four departments, Civil and Sanitary Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Mining Engineering and Metallurgy, that the instruction be carried on at the new buildings of the Institute in Cambridge, and that all male students at either the Institute or the University in the Engineering and Mining departments will be registered with the Registrar of the Institute and will be eligible for the degrees given in those departments both by the Institute and by the University, provided they satisfy the conditions prescribed by the respective institutions. Students registered in this way, who are candidates for a University degree, have the same rights and privileges as students in the other professional schools of the University, as well as the rights and privileges of students at the Institute.

This plan involves the discontinuance of the Schools of Engineering and Mining as purely graduate schools, and a reversion to the plan of education in engineering and mining which existed in the Lawrence Scientific School before the Graduate Schools of Applied Science were established. The regularly prescribed course is one of four years, leading to an S.B. degree. Students from secondary schools are admitted after taking an examination, and graduates or other men who have attended the University or other Colleges and Scientific Schools are admitted to advanced standing. Advanced courses leading up to the degrees of Master of Science, Mining Engineer, or Metallurgical Engineer are also given, or are open to men who have been awarded an S.B. degree or its equivalent.

The Schools of Architecture and of Landscape Architecture

These two schools are grouped under the Faculty of Architecture. Robinson Hall, which they occupy, is one of the best equipped buildings in the College yard, exclusive of the Widener Library. It contains full size casts of important pieces of architecture and a collection of original marble fragments of Greek, Roman, and Italian Renaissance detail. The second story is occupied by the drawing rooms and library of the School of Architecture. Instruction in the two schools is generally independent, but the subjects are so closely related that the collections of each school are of advantage to the other, and it is convenient to each set of students to be in contact with work in the allied subject.

Instruction in Landscape Architecture is based on a knowledge of topographical surveying, botany, geology, horticulture, and forestry. The equipment of the University in these subjects is exceptional. The University Museum, the Botanic Gardens, the Arnold Arboretum, and the Engineering Camp at Squam Lake comprise a part of the many opportunities which are available in the study of Landscape Architecture.

The Harvard Musical Association

In 1837 the honorary and immediate members of the Pierian Sodality formed themselves into an association for the cultivation of musical taste and science, and for the introduction of music as a regular branch of instruction at Harvard College. The name, "The Harvard Musical Association," was not adopted until 1840. Since then the Association has had an important influence on the development of musical instruction at Harvard. Its most significant mission has been the shaping of the public opinion in regard to music in Boston. The Symphony Orchestra and the Cecilia Club were both organized by members of the Association. The clubhouse is at 57A Chestnut St., Boston, where there is a notable library of music. Of the three hundred resident members, at least two-thirds must be alumni of Harvard or some other college. Annual dues: $10.00.

NO COMMITTEES

Constitution of Student Council

The purpose of this Council is to co-operate thoroughly with the Faculty in raising the general intellectual standard at Harvard as stated in the undergraduate petition to the Faculty dated April 29, 1908, to bring before the governing bodies of the University expression of undergraduate opinion on subjects pertaining to the University, and to co-operate with the Athletic Committee in eradicating any evils in the conduct of athletics. The attainment of this purpose is to be effected in part by direct jurisdiction over individual students, and in part by creating the general sentiment that it is a question of individual and college honor to maintain a strict attention to scholastic duties.

A. MEMBERSHIP

I. The Council is to be composed as follows: (1) the four class presidents, (2) the captains and managers of the five major teams, (3) the chief executive officer of each of the following papers: the Advocate, the Crimson, the Illustrated Magazine, the Lampoon, and the Monthly Magazine, (4) the vice-president of the Union, (5) three representatives from the Phi Beta Kappa elected by its members, (6) ten members from the College at large elected by their respective classes as follows: 2 Seniors, 4 Juniors, 1 Sophomore, 1 Freshman (to be elected at the time of the election of class officers, except in the case of the Senior class), (7) President of Phillips Brooks House, (8) Chairman of the Committee on Organization and (9) President of the Musical Clubs Association.

STUDENT COUNCIL, 1916-17

II. Those men having membership in the Council by virtue of undergraduate office shall retain their membership until the end of the academic year in which the qualifying office was held. The members elected from the College at large shall retain their membership until their successors are elected. No undergraduate who is not in good standing at the College Office shall be eligible for membership. No member of the Council who fails to maintain good standing shall continue as a member of the Council. The Student Council shall appoint members to fill any vacancies that may occur. This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the entire Council after three weeks' notice of such change has been given to the undergraduates.

B. MEETINGS

I. The Council shall meet at least twice in each academic year. The first meeting shall be held within one week after the annual election of members. The president shall be empowered to call special meetings.

II. A quorum shall consist of a majority of the members.

C. OFFICERS

The officers of the Council shall be a president, a vice-president, and a secretary, all of whom shall be Seniors. The president shall preside at all meetings, and shall have the power to cast a vote only in the case of a tie. The vice-president shall, in the absence of the president, assume all his powers. The secretary shall perform all the duties regularly pertaining to that office. All officers shall be elected at the first meeting of the Student Council after the election of members.

D. COMMITTEES

I. Executive Committee. There shall be an Executive Committee of seven members, of whom five shall be Seniors and two Juniors. The officers of the Council shall be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee. The two remaining Seniors and two Juniors shall be elected at the first meeting of the Council, shall report on its actions to the Council at the first regular meeting of the Council subsequent to the actions in question, and shall have this report published in the Crimson as soon after its presentation as expedient. The Executive Committee shall have the power to require any member of the Council to investigate and report to it on any subject in the field of the Council's activity. The Executive Committee shall hold office from its election until June 1. The Executive Committee shall be empowered to fill any vacancy which may occur among its members. The Executive Committee shall meet at least twice in each month during its term of office.

II. Nominating Committee. A Nominating Committee of seven members shall be appointed by the president of the Council before June 1 of each year. The Nominating Committee shall consist of the two Junior Members of the Executive Committee, three Juniors and two Sophomores appointed from the Council at large and the President of the Freshman class. The Nominating Committee shall, after the first two weeks of the academic year and before the class elections, make nominations from which the members at large are to be elected by their respective classes. Twelve Seniors, 10 Juniors and 8 Sophomores shall be nominated. Additional nominations for delegates from any one class may be made by petition of 50 members of that class. Such petitions must reach the Nominating Committee at least 48 hours before the elections. The Nominating Committee shall assume all the functions and powers of the Executive Committee from the first day of June to the time of the election of an Executive Committee by the Council in the following fall.

E. POWERS OF THE COUNCIL

(1) To advise the executive of any student organization open to competition as to the conduct of such organization. (2) To obtain through the College Office necessary information pertaining to the undergraduate body, such as marks, cuts, absences from Cambridge, etc. NOTE.—The purpose of the above is to enable the Council to have at all times exact data so that it may give warning to individuals, teams, etc., and to assist in the maintenance of the required standard. (3) To investigate any infringement of College rules that it may see fit, with the power of recommendation to the University executive. (4) To confer with any of the governing bodies of the University or any member thereof, upon any subject pertaining to the undergraduate body. (5) To regulate all mass meetings and student demonstrations, athletic, political or otherwise. (6) To prohibit any man who shows an indisposition to respect the recommendation of the Council from becoming and remaining a member of any athletic team, musical club, theatrical club, etc. (7) To confer with the Athletic Committee on athletic questions with the power of recommendation as to schedules, etc. (8) To execute all further powers the Faculty may see fit to grant it.

AMENDMENTS

I. The President of Phillips Brooks House Association shall be a member of this Council ex-officio.

II. The Chairman of the Committee on Organization shall be appointed from the membership of that committee by the Executive Committee of this Council and thereupon shall become a member of the Council ex-officio. He shall choose the other members of the said committee subject to the approval of the Executive Committee of the Council.

Senior Class Constitution

ARTICLE I.

MEMBERS.

Section 1.—The members of the class of 1918 shall be:

- (a) All men who are candidates for the degree of A.B. or S.B. in 1918.
- (b) All men who have received, or who will receive their degrees as of the class of 1918.
- (c) All men who are fourth year special students.

Section 2.—Men in the University not included under any of these classifications who entered with the class of 1918 but who are not officially registered with the class of 1918 may on petition receive the right to vote with the Class.

Section 3.—No man who has voted in any previous Class Day election shall be eligible to vote.

Section 4.—A provisional list of members of the Class shall be compiled by the nominating Committee hereinafter mentioned, and shall be posted before the first Friday in December.

Section 5.—Any man whose name is not on the list of members of the class compiled by the Nominating Committee may petition the Committee to enter his name thereon. Such petitions must be delivered to the Committee before the Monday following the first Friday in December, and shall be passed upon finally by the Committee.

ARTICLE II.

OFFICERS.

Section 1.—The officers of the Class shall be First, Second, and Third Marshals, Secretary, Treasurer, Orator, Ivy Orator, Poet, Odist and Chorister.

Section 2.—The duties of these officers shall be those usually incumbent upon their offices.

Section 3.—The First Marshal shall act as the Class President and the Secretary as Class Secretary until Class Day. At meetings of the Class after Class Day the First Marshal shall preside, and in his absence the Second Marshal, and in the absence of both, the Third Marshal.

Section 4.—The Treasurer shall be a regular member of the Class Committee. The three Marshals and the Secretary shall be ex-officio members of the Class Committee.

Section 5.—Senior Class Officers shall hold office for life.

ARTICLE III.

NOMINATION OF OFFICERS.

Section 1.—Before December 1 of the Senior year, the President of the Class shall appoint a Nominating Committee of five members, no one of whom shall be a member of a final club or shall be generally considered a candidate for a Class office other than a committee.

Section 2.—The Nominating Committee shall have general charge of the Class Elections. Before the Friday preceding the second Wednesday in December, it shall nominate at least two candidates for each Class office.

Section 3.—Additional nominations for Class offices may be made by petition of twenty-five members of the Class to the Nominating Committee; such petitions, with the exception of those for Secretary and Committee-men, must be received before Monday preceding the second Wednesday in December.

Section 4.—The election of Senior Class Officers, with the exception of Secretary and Class Committees, shall be held on the second Wednesday of December.

Section 5.—Every elector shall vote for three candidates for Marshals, indicating his preference for First Marshal. Of the three elected, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes for First Marshal shall be declared First Marshal; of the other two, the one whose total vote is higher shall be Second Marshal, and the other one Third Marshal.

Section 6.—Within twenty-four hours after the election of Marshals and other Class officers, the Nominating Committee shall make nominations for Secretary and the Class Committees. Additional nominations may be made by petition of twenty-five members of the Class to the Nominating Committee; such petitions must be received before the Saturday following the second Wednesday in December.

Section 7.—The election of the Class Secretary and the Class Committees shall be held on the Tuesday after the second Wednesday in December.

Section 8.—Every elector shall vote for two candidates for the Class Committee, three for the Photograph Committee, and seven for the Class Day Committee. The two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for the Class Committee, the three candidates receiving the highest number of votes for the Photograph Committee, and the seven candidates receiving the highest number of votes for the Class Day Committee shall be declared elected. Each Committee shall elect its own Chairman.

Section 9.—If for any reason any office or position becomes vacant, the vacancy shall be filled by that candidate who received the next highest number of votes for that office or position.

Section 10.—Every ballot not containing the required number of names for Marshals or the respective Committees shall be declared invalid for the Marshals or those Committees.

Section 11.—The Australian ballot shall be used in all Class elections.

ARTICLE IV.

MEETINGS.

Section 1.—Meetings shall be called at the discretion of the President, or within six days after the receipt of a petition signed by twenty-five members of the Class, stating the proposed discussion to be brought before the meeting. The purpose of all meetings and the subjects to be discussed therein should be published by the President two days before said meetings.

Section 2.—At meetings of the Class, except those for constitutional amendment, a quorum shall consist of seventy-five members of the Class.

Section 3.—Roberts' Rules of Order shall govern the proceedings of all meetings of the Class.

ARTICLE V.

AMENDMENTS.

Section 1.—This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of members present at a special meeting.

Section 2.—Notice of this meeting, together with a statement of the nature of the proposed amendment, shall be published one week previous to the said meeting.

Section 3.—At all meetings for questions of Constitutional Amendment a quorum shall consist of a hundred and seventy-five members of the Class.

Section 4.—Any proposed amendment to this Constitution shall be presented first to the Executive Committee of the Student Council, which shall have the right to report through its representative concerning the amendment, at the meeting in which said amendment is to be voted upon.

Constitution for Three Lower Classes

ARTICLE I.

MEMBERS.

The members of the class of — shall be:

- (a) Men registered at the College Office as of the Class of —.
- (b) Men who entered College with the Class of — and who have not voted with another class.

ARTICLE II.

OFFICERS.

Section 1.—The class officers shall be a President, a Vice-President, and a Secretary-Treasurer, elected in the manner hereinafter provided.

Section 2.—The duties of the President shall be to preside at all meetings, to make a public statement of class finances twice each year, and to assume other duties usually incumbent upon his office.

Section 3.—The duties of the Vice-President shall be to assume the Presidential duties in the absence of the President.

Section 4.—The duties of the Secretary-Treasurer shall be to preserve all class records, to have general oversight of all financial matters, and to render to the President twice each year the financial statement which is to be made public as provided in Article II, Section 2.

Section 5.—The three officers shall have power to levy uniform class assessments and appoint all non-elective committees.

Section 6.—All officers shall hold office until their successors are elected.

ARTICLE III.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Section 1.—In the Freshman year the Student Council shall have general charge of the class election and shall determine the date thereof.

Section 2.—In the Freshman year, the Executive Committee of the Student Council shall make not less than two nominations for each of the Freshman Class Officers. These nominations shall be published at least one week before the election.

Section 3.—Additional nominations for Freshman Class officers may be made by petition, each petition to be signed by thirty-five members of the Freshman Class. Such petitions shall be received by the Executive Committee of the Student Council until forty-eight hours before the election.

Section 4.—In the Sophomore and Junior years, the Class Officers shall have general charge of the elections, which shall be held not later than the twenty-first day after the opening of College.

Section 5.—In the Sophomore and Junior years, all nominations for Class Officers shall be made by petition, each petition to be signed by thirty-five members of the class. Such petitions shall be delivered to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Class not later than the eighteenth day after the opening of College. The Secretary-Treasurer of the Class shall publish the name of each nominee within twenty-four hours after receiving the petition nominating him. On the fifteenth day after the opening of College, a complete list of nominations shall be published, together with a statement that additional nominations shall be received until the eighteenth day after the opening of College.

Section 6.—In the Sophomore and Junior years the Class Officers shall make nominations for offices provided no petitions for those offices are received. These nominations shall be made not later than the nineteenth day after the opening of College.

Section 7.—The system of preferential voting described below shall be used in all class elections. Each elector shall indicate his order of preference for all the candidates for each office. A first choice shall count one, a second two, and so on. The candidate receiving the lowest numerical total shall be declared elected. Any ballot on which all the candidates for any office have not been voted upon shall be declared invalid for that office.

Section 8.—The Australian ballot shall be used in all class elections.

Section 9.—No man who has held any class office shall be eligible for any class office again until Senior year.

ARTICLE IV.

COMMITTEES.

Section 1.—The Class Officers shall appoint a committee on Finance, which shall be empowered to collect all Class dues.

Section 2.—The Class Officers shall appoint other Committees at their discretion.

Section 3.—The three Class Officers shall be ex-officio members of all Committees.

ARTICLE V.

MEETINGS.

Section 1.—Meetings shall be called at the discretion of the President, or within six days after the receipt of a petition signed by twenty-five members of the Class stating the proposed discussion to be brought before the meeting. The purpose of all meetings and the subjects to be discussed therein should be published by the President two days before said meetings.

Section 2.—At meetings of the Class, except those for constitutional amendment, a quorum shall consist of seventy-five members of the Class.

Section 3.—Roberts' Rules of Order shall govern the proceedings of all meetings of the Class.

ARTICLE VI.

AMENDMENTS.

Section 1.—This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of members present at a special meeting.

Section 2.—Notice of this meeting, together with a statement of the nature of the proposed amendment, shall be published one week previous to the said meeting.

Section 3.—At all meetings for questions of Constitutional Amendment a quorum shall consist of a hundred and seventy-five members of the Class.

Section 4.—Any proposed amendment to this Constitution shall be presented first to the Executive Committee of the Student Council, which shall have the right to report through its representative concerning the amendment, at the meeting in which said amendment is to be voted upon.

ARTICLE VII.

TERM OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Scholarship

Phi Beta Kappa

ALPHA CHAPTER OF MASSACHUSETTS

Founded 1779

PURPOSE: To reward scholarship.

The Society elects eight men from the twelve highest in the Junior class and twenty-two from the forty-four highest in the Senior class who shall best represent the scholarly activity of the College. In order to meet exceptional cases where persons have shown distinguished excellence in scholarship but have failed to stand sufficiently high in sheer grades to qualify for the previous election, the Senior members may choose five additional Seniors, and five more Seniors who attain unusual distinction at graduation.

The annual dues of the Society are $10.00; and the Club room is in the South Tower of Memorial Hall.

Weekly dinners are held in the Society's room and prominent members of the Faculty are invited as guests and speakers. The graduates also hold a series of dinners during the year. Phi Beta Kappa Day, the Monday of Commencement Week, is the occasion for literary exercises, always of the first rank for scholarly value. Such men as Ralph Waldo Emerson 1821, Oliver Wendell Holmes '61, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, LL.D. (hon.) '59, have read poems at these meetings. Among the men who have delivered orations on these days are Edward Everett, 1811; Joseph Story, 1798; Charles Sumner, '80; Charles Francis Smith '56; James Bryce, LL.D. (hon.), '67; Charles William Eliot '53.

Phi Beta Kappa is thus the highest reward for intellectual endeavor in the College and at the same time an inspiration to her members in the application of that ability.

Scholarships, Harvard College

The names of holders of Scholarships in Harvard College are arranged in three groups, in accordance with votes of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

The first group of holders of Scholarships is made up of those undergraduates whose work in the preceding College year entitles them to "very high academic distinction." No student is admitted to this group until his record for the preceding year, in all his courses, has been carefully inspected and the question of his fitness has been submitted to every one of his teachers. Only very high grades in his studies and concurrent testimony in his favor from a sufficient number of his teachers enable the Committee on Scholarships and other Aids for Undergraduates to recommend him for a position in the first group.

John Harvard Scholarships are given only to students deemed worthy of a position in the first group.

Prizes

JEREMY BELKNAP PRIZE

An annual prize of fifty dollars is offered for the best French composition on an assigned subject written by a first year student in Harvard College. Notice of intention to compete must be sent to the Recorder by May 1.

Winner 1916-17

John William Merten '20, of Cincinnati, Ohio

BOWDOIN PRIZES

The income of a bequest by James Bowdoin, Harvard 1735, in 1787, and an addition by George Sullivan Bowdoin in 1901, of the sum of $15,000 are applied "annually in the way of premiums for the advancement of useful and polite literature among the residents, as well as the undergraduates of the University." There are three prizes for undergraduates, and four for graduates. For undergraduates the prizes are: a first prize of two hundred and fifty dollars, and two second prizes of one hundred dollars each. They are offered annually to undergraduates in regular standing for dissertations in English on any subject approved by the Chairman of the Committee. Prizes are offered also to undergraduates for dissertations in Greek and Latin upon chosen subjects. In these languages two prizes of fifty dollars each are offered. Manuscripts must be delivered by April 1 to the Secretary of the Faculty, 20 University Hall.

Winners, 1916-17

First Prize of $50: Harry Joshua Leon '18, of Worcester

BOYLSTON PRIZES FOR ELOCUTION

These prizes were made possible by the gift in 1870 of one thousand dollars from Ward Nichols Boylston '85, for the promotion of public speaking at Harvard. The prizes, which are awarded to Juniors and Seniors in Harvard College at a public competition on the second Thursday in May each year, consist of: two first prizes of thirty dollars each, and three second prizes of twenty dollars each.

Winners, 1916-17

Second Prizes: Lowell Brentano '18, of Orange, N. J.
Walter Llewellyn Bullock '17, of Chicago, Ill.
Vernon Brown Kellett '18, of Hopedale

COOLIDGE DEBATING PRIZE

There is one prize allotted annually from the income of a five thousand dollar bequest of Thomas Jefferson Coolidge '50, for the best work in trials for the annual triangular debate between Harvard, Princeton, and Yale. The amount of the prize is one hundred dollars.

Winner, 1916-17

Julian Henry Spitz '17, of Brookline

LLOYD McKIM GARRISON PRIZE

This prize was founded by the Class of 1888 in memory of their Classmate, LLOYD McKIM GARRISON. The endowment is for a prize consisting of one hundred dollars and a silver medal for the best poem on a subject to be chosen annually by a committee of the Department of English. The competition for this prize is open to all undergraduates.

Winner, 1916-17

Brent Dow Allinson '18, of Chicago, Ill.

HARVARD MENORAH SOCIETY PRIZE

Through the generosity of Mr. Jacob H. Schiff the Harvard Menorah Society is able to offer to the University the sum of one hundred dollars annually until further notice, to be awarded for an essay by an undergraduate on a subject connected with the work and achievements of the Jewish people. All manuscripts must be submitted not later than May 1.

Winner, 1916-17

Max Julius Meyer '18, of Gardner
Honorable mention to William Maurice Silverman '18, of Cambridge

OLD TESTAMENT PRIZE

An annual prize competition is held with a prize of $50 for a written examination on the Old Testament.

Winner, 1916-17

Josiah Manuel Langenthal '19, of East Boston

SALES PRIZE

A prize of forty-five dollars, being the income of a bequest of one thousand dollars by the will of Francis Sales, A.M., 1835, Instructor in Spanish and French in the University from 1816 to 1854, is offered to the best scholar in Spanish. Notice of intention to compete for this prize must be sent to the Recorder by May 1.

Winner, 1916-17

John Joseph Brooks '18, of East Boston
Honorable mention to Jacob Levy '18, of Dorchester

GEORGE B. SOHIER PRIZE

This prize was founded by the late Waldo Higginson, of Boston, of the Class of 1833, in memory of his brother-in-law, George Brimmer Sohier, of the Class of 1852. The endowment is for "one prize of two hundred and fifty dollars for the best thesis presented by a successful candidate for honors in English or in Modern Literature. If no thesis is deemed worthy of a prize, no prize will be given." "The competitors may be either:—(1) undergraduates in Harvard College; (2) Harvard graduates who are resident at the University as students in the Graduate School; or (3) students in Radcliffe College."

Winners, 1916-17

Publications

The Harvard Graduates' Magazine

The Harvard Graduates' Magazine, a quarterly of about 200 pages, was founded in the autumn of 1892 to furnish a permanent record of the events most important in the life of the University, and to give alumni an opportunity of knowing from authentic sources the facts of graduate and undergraduate life. The first number was published in October, 1892. William Roscoe Thayer '81 held the position of Editor for twenty-three years.

The magazine includes contributed articles, chiefly by alumni, reports from the various departments of the University, summaries of student life and athletics, the official minutes of the Corporation and Board of Overseers, marriages, necrology, an important department of news from the classes, and literary notices. It is published quarterly, on September 1, December 1, March 1, and June 1.

Communications for the Editor should be sent to Mr. M. A. DeW. Howe, 3 Grays Hall, Cambridge. Business communications should be addressed to Mr. W. H. Wade at the office of the magazine, 99 State St., Boston. The annual subscription price is $3.00

Harvard University Gazette

The Gazette is the official medium for announcement by the several Boards, Faculties, and Administrative Officers of the University, and for the announcement of lectures, conferences, readings, and concerts.

It is published weekly during the academic year at the subscription price of $1.00 for the year.

The Harvard Crimson

The Harvard Crimson, the daily paper of the University, is a descendant of the "Echo", founded in 1879. The "Echo" died in 1881, and was followed by the "Herald". In the fall of 1883 the "Herald" consolidated with the "Daily Crimson," and from this combination dates the unbroken career of the present paper, although the present title, "The Harvard Crimson," was not decided upon until 1891.

"The Harvard Crimson" aims to perform two main functions: first, to keep the undergraduates informed of the progress which is being made by the various organizations of the University, and by its representative teams; second, to preserve in its files a complete record of all the University activities as a matter of reference.

To make the paper as news editors, candidates must survive a twelve weeks' competition, during which they are required to scour the University for news. The business management is in the hands of undergraduates chosen for their ability to acquire advertising and to handle practical business problems. There is also an editorial-writing competition. The news competitions are held for men in the last half of Freshman year and in both halves of Sophomore year. The business manager's competition is held in the first half of Sophomore year. The editorial writers may compete in both halves of Junior year.

The Crimson Building is No. 14 Plympton Street. The subscription price, $4.00 for the College year, is accepted there.

Harvard Lampoon

The Lampoon is the College comic paper. It was founded in 1876 but was discontinued after Class Day, 1880. In 1881 it was revived and has continued, uninterrupted, to the present time.

The Lampoon is published fortnightly during the College year at the Lampoon Building on Bow Street. Telephone, Cambridge 54222. The subscription is $3.00 a year.

Its purpose is to treat the humorous side of student activities, and it tries "with trenchant pencil and sarcastic pen to hit off the foibles" of our "little world," and to open a field where the last jest at the club table and the latest undergraduate freak may find a place. Election to the board of editors is based on writing jokes and drawing humorous sketches, or on business ability.

The Harvard Illustrated

The Harvard Illustrated is a bi-weekly journal which chronicles by picture and comment the various activities of Harvard life. Besides furnishing an illustrated diary of the College year, it presents in editorials and articles the significant movements of undergraduate opinion.

Competitions for literary, pictorial, business, and art ends are held twice for each class, one starting in February of the Freshman year, the second in October of the Sophomore year.

One year's subscription, amounting to 16 issues, costs $2.00. Single copies, 25 cents. The business and editorial offices are located at 1246 Massachusetts Avenue. Telephone, Cambridge 6529-R.

The Harvard Law Review

The Harvard Law Review was founded in 1887 by a few students of the Law School, who before that time had associated as a law club. It is the oldest of the student legal publications. The management is entirely in the hands of a board elected from among the highest standing men in the second and third year classes. These men write all the editorials, dealing with current decisions of the courts and current legislative policies. Longer articles of interest are contributed by the law Faculty and by eminent lawyers.

The magazine is published monthly during the college year, the price per volume being $2.50.

The editorial offices are in Austin Hall, and the business office is in University Hall.

Harvard Theological Review

The Harvard Theological Review, issued by the Faculty of Divinity, is an undenominational theological quarterly, established by the aid of the bequest of Miss Mildred Everett, daughter of Rev. Charles Carroll Everett, D.D., Bussey Professor of Theology in the Harvard Divinity School, 1869-1900, and Dean of the School, 1878-1900.

The Review aims to include discussions in the various fields of theological study and also in the history of religions, ethics, education, economics, and sociology, in their theoretical and religious aspects. It is designed to serve the needs not only of clergymen and scholars, but of all who are interested in religious thought and in the place and function of religion in modern life.

Remittances and communications on business matters should be addressed to the Director of the Harvard University Press, Cambridge, Mass. The subscription price is $2.00 for the year.

Harvard University Register

The Harvard University Register is published annually by the Student Council in order to give those interested in College affairs not only a concise and complete record of Harvard activities, but also a convenient book of reference and general information in regard to students' organizations, and complete directories of the University with an index of each man's activities. In its recent development this publication has aimed to become more and more an undergraduate year book, an ornament as well as a necessary adjunct to a student's desk.

The Register and its forerunner, the Index, have been issued without a break since 1873, making it the second oldest continuous undergraduate publication. It has had a checkered history, but since 1911 has been issued by a board appointed by the Student Council.

The Register is issued about the first of December, and statistics are corrected to November 1st. The price in Cambridge is $1.25 a copy.

Religious and Philanthropic Activities

Phillips Brooks House Association

The Phillips Brooks House Association is the organization which federates the several religious organizations of the University, and unites, chiefly through them, the men in the University interested in religious and philanthropic work. Special Committees of the federal organization have charge of the Information Bureau, established at Phillips Brooks House at the beginning of each year, the issue of the Harvard Handbook, the Phillips Brooks House Class Day spread, the ushering in Chapel, and the direction of the social service work.

In the Randall Room of Phillips Brooks House are kept the combined libraries of the various societies, the books of which may be withdrawn by any member of the University.

Since 1907 the Association has managed a Text-Book Loan Library, stocked with gifts of textbooks from students. These books are loaned to students who cannot well afford to purchase them.

Harvard University Christian Association

The Harvard University Christian Association is the oldest, the largest, and the most comprehensive of the constituent societies of the Phillips Brooks House Association. The object of this Association is to promote Christian life and work in the University. Its special activities include the dormitory and lecture classes for the study of the Bible and discussion of religious problems, the holding of regular Sunday morning meetings in Phillips Brooks House, and the maintenance of a reading room, open to all members of the University; but the Association regards itself as responsible for its reasonable share in the social service and miscellaneous work of the House.

No sectarian lines are drawn in the Association, and church membership is not prerequisite for membership; but the Association endeavors to bring together the men who are striving to be Christians, to promote in each the development of an intelligent and vital religious life, and to co-operate in the extension of the Kingdom of God.

St. Paul's Society

The St. Paul's Society is the organization of Episcopalians in the University. Its purpose as expressed in its constitution is "to bring together churchmen connected with the University and to give them opportunities for work and worship agreeable to the spirit and forms of the church." It holds meetings every Wednesday evening at 7 in the Noble Room, Brooks House, given up to lectures or discussions. There is also a monthly corporate Communion of the Society, celebrated the third Thursday of each month in Christ Church, Cambridge. Besides such regular occasions there are special events, sermons to the Society by visiting clergy; and on the social side, a reception to all incoming churchmen on the first evening of the college year in Christ Church Parish House, and at the close of the year the Society dinner.

To furnish opportunities for active work, a City Mission Committee is maintained, prepared to supply men who desire to do philanthropic or religious work, of any kind from teaching a Sunday School class to coaching a football team, with such positions as they wish. The society also has a library.

St. Paul's Catholic Club

Formed in 1893 to bring the Catholics of Harvard into closer relationship with one another, to promote their religion, and to make known the good will existing between Catholics and Non-Catholics in this University, St. Paul's Catholic Club has grown steadily. It now occupies the Newman House, 34 Mt. Auburn Street.

The officers wish to meet personally all Roman Catholics in the University, especially Freshmen and those coming from a distance. At the meetings prominent clergy and laymen address the club on interesting topics. All Non-Catholics are assured of a cordial welcome at any of these lectures.

The permanent chaplain is the pastor of St. Paul's Parish, or any assistant he may appoint.

Graduate Schools Society of Phillips Brooks House

The Graduate Schools Society of Phillips Brooks House is a constituent society of the Phillips Brooks House Association organized in 1909 for members of the Graduate Schools of Arts and Sciences, Applied Science, and Business Administration. There is a reception at the beginning of the year, and fortnightly meetings are held at which addresses are made by prominent men. On alternate Wednesday evenings a series of lectures on topics from the Bible of particular interest to graduate students are given. A number of men are placed in social work, chiefly in the teaching of English to foreigners.

Christian Science Society

The Christian Science Society, which at present is not associated with the Phillips Brooks House Association, has for its primary aim the affording of an opportunity to show how practical use of Christian Science may be made in the problems of college life. Meetings are held on the first and third Friday evenings, in Phillips Brooks House, and are open to all members of the University. A part of each meeting is devoted to an informal discussion of how spiritual teachings can improve the individual's health and morals, broaden his capacity for college work, eliminate his fear of examinations, and enable him to be more discriminating in judgment. A reception is held at the beginning of the college year to welcome new students. Lectures are given from time to time by members of the board of lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston.

Social Service

Under the head of Social Service is included a wide range of activities undertaken by students of the University, all of which are intended to bring to the service of the community the resources which the University possesses in the leisure time of the students, and to give them "laboratory practice" in serving the community. These activities include leadership in boys' clubs, teaching night classes for foreigners and working men, and Juvenile Court work. Harvard leads the Colleges in this work as more than 500 students were engaged thus during 1916-1917.

The department is in charge of a Social Service Committee with offices in Phillips Brooks House. Several conferences are held during the year, most of these are open to the University and to the head workers of the various settlement houses.

The Appleton Chapel Choir

The Choir, composed of about 30 men chosen from the University by competition, sings regularly at morning prayers and Sunday morning services in Appleton Chapel. In addition, the Choir gives concerts in Cambridge and elsewhere, chief of which are its well-known Christmas concerts in Appleton Chapel.

The exceptionally fine performances of the Choir in the past few years have earned for it a very high reputation, and its concerts are always well attended and highly praised.

Registered Clubs

CLUBS AT HARVARD

By courtesy of "Harvard of Today", published in 1913 by the Harvard Federation of Territorial Clubs.

The number of clubs in Harvard has been the subject of no little jesting on the part of undergraduates and graduates who forget for the time being that the birth of a new interest leads naturally to the formation of a group to pursue it; who forget that the "club" may be merely a unit of association for the pursuit of a particular idea, and not a secluded organization of men who are simply congenial socially. The usual form of the joke is "Let's form another club and hang another medal on our walls."

We haven't time for the jokers. More serious-minded critics say there are too many clubs in college, but they do not specify for what there are too many. If the existence of so many different interests seems cumbersome for the moment, they should realize that the very strength of the college is the widespread undergraduate interest in every direction. They should realize that no man need come to Cambridge and be without the facilities to follow his own taste, to develop his own talent, or to conceive a new enthusiasm which he never knew before lay asleep in him.

These organizations are often classified and divided into eight groups: social, scientific, language and culture (a too pretentious word), musical, debating, political, dramatic, and territorial. We have no intention of dazzling anyone with the array of them. We know that no man will display fitful flashes of interest in various directions only to let them die out as soon as he has made a club, unless he is goaded by a false ambition. And we want to make it clear that real interest is the primary qualification for entrance into any one of these organizations. The disappointing man in the college community is the man who loses his interest after he is in a club and who is not always entirely to blame, since membership in two or three clubs must divide his time and prevent his paying entire allegiance to the one for which he is best suited.

Let us consider these interests separately:

Social.—Among the purely social organizations are the Union, the Institute of 1770, the Pi Eta Society, the Fraternities, certain sectional clubs, the "waiting" clubs, the "final" clubs, and the Hasty Pudding Club. The Institute, an ancient and worthy society, elects one hundred men from the Sophomore Class, the first eighty of whom become automatically members of the D.K.E. The Institute members are chosen in tens beginning in October or November, and the elections continue every week or two.

The Pi Eta Society, with an active membership of 100 men, elects the majority of its members from the Sophomore and Junior Classes. This Club lays stress on the democratic character of the organization. Its elaborate musical shows, given in its own theatre, are often worthy of high praise. Notable, too, is the dramatic success of the D.U., an active chapter of the national fraternity, which for several years has presented effective revivals of the Elizabethan drama. The fraternity houses are in most cases run as clubs; i. e., although men eat and spend their free time in the houses, they do not actually use them as dormitories. The Western Club is of this nature also.

There are three "waiting" clubs: The Iroquois, the Phoenix, and the SK. As the name "waiting" club implies, they serve merely as temporary quarters until men are elected to a final club. The final clubs are the A.D., the Delphic, the Fox, the Fly, the Owl, the Porcellian, and the Spee. The members of the final clubs, and also of the "waiting" clubs and fraternities are elected according to the club agreement which follows this article.

These social clubs, like the other clubs in college with more defined interests, are properly considered as a means for development and friendship, but not as a goal for the "social climber's" ambition. The fact that many prominent men are not members of the prominent clubs casts no reflection on the men or on the clubs. The social club at Harvard holds the same position that a men's club holds in any city.

Scientific.—There are two clubs of men interested in chemistry, one a branch of a national chemistry association, and one local. At their meetings they are addressed by prominent chemists, as a rule on phases of the science which are of unusual or contemporary prominence. The botanical club has about twenty members. A club of the same size is composed of men who are specializing in landscape architecture. A club of drawing and architecture men has less than a dozen members. The engineering society and two mathematical clubs have a large membership in the graduate schools, mostly of men who are taking advanced work. The natural history society is an undergraduate body with a score of members, and the anthropological and zoological organizations are made up of both undergraduates and graduates. The wireless club is made up almost entirely of undergraduates. The scientific clubs are necessarily closely affiliated with class-room interests, and as is the case in the language and "culture" clubs, members of the Faculty are sometimes prominent members of the clubs.

Language and Culture.—The Cercle Francais, for members of the University who speak French, and the Deutscher Verein, for those who speak German, are both large; they form a link between the college and the older countries, devote considerable time to sociability and conversation, and present a play each year in the foreign tongue. The Circolo Italiano is a similar organization. There are clubs made up of men who are interested in the literature of the modern languages, and in Greek and Roman, Hebraic, and Scandinavian culture.

Musical.—Harvard has many thriving musical clubs. The glee, mandolin, and banjo clubs take men by competition, and the orchestra, called the Pierian Sodality, holds a similar open competition for membership. These clubs give concerts in Cambridge, and make trips to other cities. The Musical Club proper is composed of men interested in music for its own sake, among them several members of the Pierian.

Debating.—The lively interest in public speaking and debating is guided by the Debating Council, an upper class organization, the Freshman Debating Society, the Delta Sigma Rho and the Speakers' Club. The last-named club periodically conducts valuable open discussions on college topics.

Political.—Interest in political clubs runs high in campaign years. The Republicans, Democrats and Socialists have their organizations, members of which engage in practical campaign work.

Dramatic.—The Dramatic Club focusses serious interest in the drama, presents semi-annually original plays, with actors and stage hands from its own membership. Three primarily social clubs, Pi Eta, the Hasty Pudding Club, and D. U., also produce plays annually; the first two usually give an original musical comedy, and the last an Elizabethan revival. Dramatic ability influences the qualifications for membership in these organizations.

Territorial.—The territorial clubs embrace organizations of students from various sections of this and other countries. The Cosmopolitan Club should be mentioned here. It is an organization of men from every part of the world, formed to foster the cosmopolitan interest which must arise from any such association.

This army of clubs and societies and leagues and associations may stagger you if you look at them all at once, but taken singly they make the best tonic Harvard can give. These clubs are all for men who want to open their eyes, to learn more, to investigate, whether they call it work or play. It is not a sombre sort of investigation: it is as serious as any pursuit undertaken willingly must be; but it is made buoyant by that very vigor of enthusiasm which gave rise to it.

There is a whip in Harvard for every man's hobby.

CLUB AGREEMENT

The subscribers to this agreement, which are printed in full below, are the A. D. Club, Alpha Phi Sigma Club, Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity, Argo Club, Delphic Club, Fox Club, D. U. Club, Fly Club, Iroquois Club, K. G. X. Club, Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Owl Club, Phi Kappa Epsilon Society, Phoenix Club, Pi Eta Society, Porcellian Club, S. A. E. Fraternity, Spee Club, Stylus Club, S. K. Club, Theta Delta Chi Club.

The agreement signed with the above named clubs is as follows:

Canvassing

1. Canvassing is here defined as "reading" or speaking or making to any undergraduate any statement or representation about any club, or notifying him directly or indirectly that he is or is not under consideration as a future member of any club.

2. Each club shall prohibit its undergraduate members and its members-elect (meaning thereby persons notified of their election but not yet initiated) from canvassing any undergraduate before the opening of College in his Sophomore year.

3. Each club shall request its graduate members to consider it a point of honor not to canvass any undergraduate in any way before the opening of College in his Sophomore year.

Pledging

4. No pledge or promise shall be accepted or taken from any undergraduate before the Friday following the fourth Monday after the opening of College in his Sophomore year by any club or by any member thereof to the effect that he will join any club or that he will not join any other club, and any such pledge or promise, whether originating in misunderstanding or otherwise, shall not be binding upon such undergraduate or upon any of the said clubs agreeing hereto, but shall be regarded by everybody as null and void and contrary to the spirit of this agreement.

Date of Election

5. No club shall elect as a member any undergraduate before the fourth Monday after the opening of College in his Sophomore year, or before that time pledge or promise election, even by implication, to such undergraduate.

Date of Notice of Elections

6. No club shall give notice to any undergraduate of his election earlier than the Tuesday following the fourth Monday after the opening of College in his Sophomore year.

Clubs Concerned

7. No club shall take as a member any undergraduate from the class of 1918 or subsequent classes, who has accepted election before the Friday following the fourth Monday after the opening of College in his Sophomore year to any other social club or society which takes in less than 100 members from a college class. The Advisory Committee shall have power to determine what organizations come within the meaning of this rule.

Institute of 1770

8. The clubs shall urge their members to change the elections to the Institute of 1770 so that the membership therein shall be increased to at least 150 men from each class, and that they shall be initiated therein at the rate of at least 15 men a week, beginning as early as possible in the Sophomore year.

Advisory Committee

9. Each club shall, annually before Commencement Day, appoint a graduate representative to serve throughout the following year on an Advisory Committee, which Committee shall elect its own chairman, who need not be a representative appointed by a club, and shall consider matters arising under this agreement and such modifications thereof as may seem desirable. The powers of this committee will be advisory only, except that it shall be the duty of this committee to take suitable steps to make this agreement known to all persons concerned.

When in Effect

10. This agreement shall be effective with relation to the members of the class of 1918 and subsequent classes

Duration

11. This agreement shall continue without limitation, except that any club may withdraw after giving one year's written notice to the parties hereto.

Publicity

12. That all parties affected by this agreement may be fully cognizant of its contents, it is hereby provided that:—

- (a) The provisions of this agreement affecting candidates shall be made public in such manner as the Advisory Committee shall determine;
- (b) The agreement shall be read at the first meeting of every club held after the opening of College;
- (c) The agreement shall thereafter remain posted in some conspicuous place in each club house.

13. Inasmuch as the successful working of this agreement depends upon the strict observance of all rules herein contained, each club member shall consider it a matter of honor to maintain such rules.

For the furtherance of these it is hereby provided that:—

- (a) At stated intervals during the year the presidents of all the clubs that are parties to the agreement shall meet to discuss any question which may have arisen as to the working or infringement of the rules;
- (b) Any complaint shall be at that time reported;
- (c) Any disputes arising between any of the parties shall be submitted to arbitration in such form as the Advisory Committee shall determine.

Rules Governing the Wearing of Numerals

In Football, a man must play on a Freshman team against Yale or on a class team winning the interclass championship.

In Track, a man must win a place in the Freshman meet with Yale, or in the interclass games, or one of the first three places in the Freshman cross-country race with Yale; or, run in a winning Freshman relay team against Yale.

In Crew, a man must go to Red Top with the Freshman crew squad or row on a class crew winning the interclass Championship. (Freshman crews are not considered in awarding numerals for interclass championships.)

In Baseball, a man must play on a Freshman team against Yale.

In Hockey, a man must play on a Freshman team against Yale.

The Freshman Managers in major sports, and, in Crew, the Assistant Manager, get their numerals.

Directory

Of Officers and Students in all Departments of the University and Index of their College Activities

ABBREVIATIONS:—

The italic letter following the name indicates in what department or school the student is enrolled:—And., Andover; B., Bussey Institution; B.U.S.T., Boston University School of Theology; C., College; Dn., Dental School; Dv., Divinity School; E.T.S., Episcopal Theological School; G., Graduate School of Arts and Sciences; G.B., Graduate School of Business Administration; L., Law School; M., Medical School; Min. S., Mining School; S.A., School of Architecture; S.L.A., School of Landscape Architecture. A.O. stands for Astronomical Observatory, F.M. for the Fogg Museum of Art, G.M. for the Geological Museum, M.C.Z. for the Museum of Comparative Zoology, P.M. for the Peabody Museum, and U.M. for the University Museum.

The numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4, preceding these letters, indicate the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes respectively in College, or the first, second, third, and fourth years in the Schools. Sp means special student; gr, graduate student; u, unclassified student; ocC., candidate for Bachelor's degree, out of course.

If an officer is "on leave of absence" for the whole year or the first half-year, his name is bracketed.

Addresses followed by an asterisk (*) are in Boston; all others are in Cambridge, unless stated to be elsewhere. It will be noticed that the number precedes the name of a street, but follows the name of a building.

Names of buildings are abbreviated as follows: A., Andover Building; Bn., Boylston Hall; C't, Conant Hall; D., Divinity Hall; G., Grays Hall; Gnt., Gannett House; H., Hollis Hall; H'y, Holworthy Hall; M., Matthews Hall; S., Stoughton Hall; T., Thayer Hall; W., Weld Hall.

The Freshman Dormitories are abbreviated as follows:—Go., Gore Hall; G.S., George Smith Hall; J.S., James Smith Hall; P.S., Persis Smith Hall; Sd., Standish Hall.

Names of places are abbreviated as follows: B'kline=Brookline; Ch's'n=Charlestown; Dor.=Dorchester; Jam. Pl.=Jamaica Plain; Rox.=Roxbury; Somer.=Somerville.
